

Haneda Airport Proposes a New Work Style Regus Express Haneda Airport Terminal 1 Opens Wednesday, May 31

Regus™ express HANEDA AIRPORT, TOKYO

Regus Japan K.K. (Head office: Shinjuku-ku, Tokyo; Representative Director and Country Manager: Shingo Nishioka), the Japan subsidiary of the Regus Group, the world's largest provider of rental offices, will open the Regus Express Haneda Airport Terminal 1, offering rental offices, meeting rooms, and a business lounge, in the 5th floor Market Place of Haneda Airport's Domestic Terminal 1.

The rental offices, meeting rooms, and business lounge can be hired out by the hour. The rental offices can also be rented on monthly contracts. Haneda Airport is the perfect business location for all business people who travel around the world or throughout Japan, so these spaces can be used for business negotiations, meetings, and the like, either while waiting to board a flight or immediately after landing at Haneda.

Japan Airport Terminal Co., Ltd. (JAT), which manages and operates Haneda Airport's domestic passenger terminals, is pursuing a Business Mall Project in which it is developing the 5th floor area of Terminal 1 as a commercial complex targeting business people. Regus Express Haneda Airport Terminal 1 will open as the first phase of this project. Going forward, in the lead-up to the grand opening of the area in the summer of 2018, JAT will progressively develop a range of facilities designed to meet the diverse needs of passengers to encourage them to "spend time at Haneda."
