^(*2) CIRIUM is an aviation data and analytics company.

^(*3) CIRIUM released the 2022 ON-TIME PERFORMANCE review as the global standard for airline and airport performance (airlines are assessed by on-time arrival while airports are assessed by on-time departure). Data for each airport is categorized into "Large", "Medium" and "Small" based on the number of arriving and departing flights. Departures within 15 minutes of schedule are defined as "on-time". At each airport, the data for actual arrivals and departures for the month is at least 80% of the scheduled flights. In the "Large" category, the top 10% airports in terms of the number of flights which serve airlines flying to three regions such as Asia, Europe and North America come under the "Global" division with the largest number of arrivals and departures.
